Some antivirus can detect this release as a threat and try to remove it. The reason for this is because my releases are packed/protected in order to reduce its size and avoid alterations to the code. This protection can be erroneously identified as a threat, it is what is commonly known as a FALSE POSITIVE. Just ignore it, it is safe to use.

IMPORTANT: there will be no risk when using my releases as long as you have downloaded it from the links posted on my site. If you have downloaded this release from another site, I CANNOT GUARANTEE ITS INTEGRITY. In such case, I will not take responsibility for eventual problems that arise when using it. Be careful!

As a precaution, always check the release hash.
